Tribal Taboo and Priestly Morality (pp. 114-127) When we think of the move from tribe to civilization, it is usually the agricultural revolution of the Neolithic we think of. But across large areas of North Africa and the Middle East, the domestication of animals—cattle, sheep, goats, horses, and camels—had an independent life.

The Tribal Imagination: Civilization and the Savage Mind ...
Ranging from incest and arranged marriage to poetry and myth to human rights and pop icons, Fox sets out to show how a variety of human behaviors reveal traces of their tribal roots, and how this evolutionary past limits our capacity for action. Among the questions he raises: How real is our notion of time?
