A relatively quiet parrot, the domestic African Senegal makes a good pet and companion for owners who might hesitate to keep noisier birds. Friendly and acrobatic, these bright green and yellow clowns must be socialized early and their domesticated behavior patterns must be regularly maintained in order that they stay tame. This book offers valuable clues to the Senegal's sensitive temperament and other specialized needs, and information about the bird's behavior, dietary needs, and appropriate indoor environment.

The Senegal Parrot, about 9 inches long, isn't a "flashy" bird, like some other companion parrots of the same size. They are mostly dark green and brownish-gray with an iridescent green throat, orange thighs, with a yellow chest. The beak and feet are black, and the eye is a light yellow-orange, set off by the darker gray of the face. They don't need all the "flash." They are beautiful as they are, with a great personalities to match. In this book, you will learn how to understand your parrot's behavior to avoid situations of biting, how to understand your parrot's body language, how to teach them to talk, what steps you must follow if your bird is escaping and you want to bring it back, how to hand feed a baby parrot and many interesting things. This book also presents the possible diseases that Senegal parrots may encounter in their lives and the treatments we need to apply when these situations occur. You can read the following chapters: Senegal parrots Description Areas of a Senegal parrot Character Lifespan How to choose the right bird General criteria How to purchase a healthy bird Life with cage birds Preparing your house for the newly arrived bird The transportation of the bird The new arrived bird's diet The main diet of a Senegal parrot How to train your bird Talking and training How to teach your bird not to bite Learn to observe your bird's body language The anatomy of Senegal parrots Respiratory organs Digestive components Urinary tract organs Genital organs The eyes The ears Cold season, hot season How to care for your bird in the cold season How to care for your bird in the hot season Cleaning your bird's house Cages and accessories Cage location Cages Aviaries Roofing Toys and accessories Breeding How to maintain your bird's health The first sign of disease advice about how to keep your bird healthy How to recognize the abnormal droppings Feather picking and self-mutilation Molting How to choose the right avian vet What should you know, when you inform your vet How to catch and manipulate your bird without hurting it How to take care of the beak and the nails of your bird How to clip your bird's wings Bathing your bird The special needs of the birds Flying exercises Bedding materials The everyday life of birds Inappropriate perches Microchipping your bird What you can do if your bird escapes outside How to prevent the escape What you can do if your bird has already escaped First aid kit for your bird How to hand feed a baby Senegal parrot How to administer medication to your bird Adding medication in drinking water Adding medication to food Liquid medication (Suspensions) Injectable medication Vitamins and minerals excess or deficiency Trauma at birds Poor general condition Forced feeding Skin and feather problems Xanthomas (Fatty tumors) Inflammation of the skin (Dermatitis) Skin tumors (Lipomas) Parasites External parasites Internal parasites The appetite and the digestive system When the bird has diarrhea Enteritis (inflammation of the intestines) The bird eats too much The bird doesn't want to eat and drink Constipation Obesity Excessive weight loss Capillaria ( Capillary or Threadworms) Gastrointestinal parasites (Tapeworms) Inflammation of the crop Liver diseases Inflammation of the liver (Hepatitis) Fatty liver Beak health problems Deformed beak Injuries of the beak Soft beak and more...
